MANDATORY CRUISE MEDICAL SCREENING FORM:

In Antarctica, sophisticated medical services are few and far between. Medical care at sea is limited, and often emergency sea and air services may also be inaccessible, particularly in the polar regions. It is therefore vital that you make us aware of any current or past health issues.

The Health, Safety and well-being of our guests are our top priority, and we want to ensure that all our guests are fit for travel. On board all HX ships, there is a qualified physician, which have a small, limited medical facility with basic medical supplies and equipment. Still, that makes it more difficult to diagnose and treat even the simplest conditions. This often leads to missed diagnosis, worsening conditions, a greater burden of chronic disease, and in some cases, unnecessary costly medical disembarkations.

To minimize the risks to your health, HX cruise requires all guests (including children) to submit and complete the Medical Screening Form before departure to Antarctica. You can find more information here <https://www.travelhx.com/en-au/support/practical-information/entry-requirements/?tab=medical-screening-form>

ACCOMMODATION:

Accommodation is selected for its convenience, comfort, and character, with hotels ranging from well-appointed city properties to boutique options reflecting the local culture. In larger cities such as Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro, guests can expect internationally recognised hotels of a 4 – 5 star standard, offering modern amenities such as private bathrooms, air conditioning, Wi-Fi, and on-site dining.

In smaller towns or more remote locations, accommodation may be of a slightly lower standard, with fewer facilities and variations in service levels. While hotels in Argentina and Brazil generally adhere to international classifications, the quality of rooms, size, and amenities may differ from those in the Australia. In some cases, hotels may not provide porters, so guests should be prepared to handle their own luggage. If assistance is required, the local representatives or hotel staff will be available to help. All hotels used are regularly inspected to ensure they meet the necessary standards for comfort and quality.

INSURANCE:

It is a condition of your booking that you are insured for the duration of your trip. We recommend comprehensive travel insurance to cover cancellation, medical requirements, luggage, repatriations and additional expenses. At a minimum, the policy is required to cover medical requirements including medical evacuations / repatriations. The choice of insurer is yours. We strongly suggest you purchase insurance at the time you pay your deposit. This is because cancellation fees and charges are payable from that time.

We may request you to provide evidence that you have taken out and paid for a policy to comply with this condition. If you fail to provide a certificate of currency of insurance within a reasonable time after our request, then this will be deemed a cancellation by you and standard cancellation fees will apply.

VACCINATIONS AND YOUR HEALTH:

We recommend that you contact either your GP or Travelvax (1300 360 164) for advice on vaccinations and travel health. Travelvax has a comprehensive website that you may also find useful www.travelvax.com.au

AIRPORT TRANSFERS:

As we offer a variety of airlines to suit your needs, passengers will arrive and depart in Brazil and Argentina at different times throughout the day. Depending on the number of travellers arriving or departing at the same time as you, the type of transfer to or from your hotel will vary.

You will always be met on arrival by English-speaking staff and transferred to your hotel either by:

- Shared coach (with other passengers, not just Wendy Wu Tours clients)
- Private vehicle (if arranged in advance or included in your tour package)
- Airport shuttle (for some hotels, especially in Buenos Aires)

For your departure, English-speaking staff will assist with transfers to the airport. If you have opted for a private transfer, a dedicated vehicle will be arranged for you.

Your local guide will be available to answer any questions upon arrival at your welcome dinner or, if arriving late, at the following morning's welcome meeting after breakfast.

TRANSPORT:

Coaches: Air-conditioned coaches are used on our group tours for city sightseeing, short excursions, and longer transfers where required. Roads in Brazil and Argentina are generally well-maintained, but traffic congestion can be an issue in major cities such as Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. In more remote areas, road conditions may be less developed, with occasional uneven surfaces. It may not always be possible to return to your hotel after sightseeing before dinner, so some flexibility is advised. Timings for transfers and tours are approximate and may be affected by traffic or weather conditions.

Public Transport: Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro both have efficient public transport networks, including buses and metro systems, which can be useful for independent exploration. Taxis and ride-hailing apps such as Uber are widely available and offer a convenient way to get around.

Planes: Internal flights are based on economy class, using reputable airlines. Lithium-ion batteries, such as those used in laptops, mobile phones, and digital cameras, must be carried in hand luggage, not checked baggage. Portable chargers must display their capacity; those over 160wh are not allowed on flights.

Ships / Boats: The Antarctic cruise with HX Expeditions is a key highlight of this journey, offering a comfortable and well-equipped expedition vessel with expert guides. Smaller zodiac boats are used for shore landings and wildlife excursions, providing an immersive way to explore the remote landscapes of Antarctica.

FOOD, MEALS & DIETARY REQUIREMENTS

On this tour, you will enjoy a variety of dining experiences across Brazil, Argentina, and aboard your Antarctica expedition cruise. Pre- and post-cruise, meals will be arranged as a group, offering a mix of local and international cuisine. During the cruise, you will dine independently.

Brazilian and Argentinian cuisines are known for their bold flavours and cultural diversity. In Brazil, meals often feature grilled meats, seafood, rice, beans, and tropical fruits, with traditional dishes such as feijoada (a black bean and pork stew) and pão de queijo (cheese bread) being popular staples. Argentina is renowned for its world-class beef, often served asado-style (grilled), along with empanadas, fresh pastas, and Malbec wine.

Pre & post cruise: All meals (excluding drinks) are included in fully inclusive group tours from arrival to departure. Breakfast is usually buffet-style at the hotel, while lunches and dinners may be pre-set menus featuring a selection of local and Western dishes. In some locations, meals may be arranged in traditional restaurants, allowing you to sample regional specialities. On days with extensive sightseeing, meals may be served immediately after the tour rather than returning to the hotel.

Cruise dining: Breakfast, lunch, and dinner are served in the Aune restaurant, offering a variety of high-quality meals. Suite guests have the option to dine at Lindstrøm, with complimentary access; other guests may dine there for an additional cover charge. Still and sparkling water, soft drinks, house wines, draught beer, coffee, and tea are included with meals. Complimentary tea, coffee, hot chocolate, and soft drinks are available throughout the day at self-service refill stations. Wine, beer, and spirits are included, though premium drinks such as cocktails and champagne are available at an additional cost.

Dietary Requirements

If you have dietary requirements, please inform us at the time of booking. Our guides and cruise staff will make every effort to accommodate requests such as gluten-free, vegetarian, or lactose-free meals. However, in remote areas or during the cruise, food availability and preparation methods may limit certain options.

While South America is becoming more accustomed to catering to Western dietary needs, specific requests may not always be met in the same way as at home. Travellers with food intolerances or particular dietary needs are encouraged to bring extra snacks or supplements, especially for the cruise portion of the tour, where availability of specialised items may be more limited. Your patience and flexibility are appreciated in ensuring an enjoyable and authentic dining experience.

WEATHER AND CLIMATE:

This itinerary takes place during the Southern Hemisphere summer, from January to March, with a wide range of temperatures and weather conditions across Brazil, Argentina, and Antarctica.

Brazil and Argentina: During the summer, both countries experience warm to hot temperatures:

- Rio de Janeiro: Highs of 30-35°C, with high humidity and occasional tropical showers.
- Buenos Aires: Highs of 28-34°C, slightly drier than Rio but with warm days and occasional thunderstorms.
- Ushuaia (gateway to Antarctica): 5-15°C, with cool winds and occasional rain.

Antarctica: The Antarctic summer offers its mildest conditions, but temperatures remain cold:

- Typical daily temperatures range from -6°C to 6°C (21°F to 43°F).
- Wind chill can make it feel colder, especially on breezy days.
- Expect long daylight hours, crisp air, and rapidly changing conditions, including snow showers, strong winds, and occasional calm, sunny periods.

Daylight and Time Zone

- Antarctica experiences up to 20 hours of daylight, allowing for extended exploration opportunities. Cabins on the cruise ship are equipped with blackout curtains.
- The region follows Argentina Time (ART), UTC -3, the same as Buenos Aires and Ushuaia.

Onboard Comfort / Cabin Temperatures

Rooms are equipped with adjustable thermostats for personalised comfort.

PUBLIC HOLIDAYS:

If you are travelling during the following public holidays, please be aware that celebrations may last for several days, and some businesses and services may be closed. Public transport and flights may also be affected, while major tourist attractions may be busier than usual.

Brazil:

- Carnival: 5th-10th February 2027 (dates vary annually)
- Independence Day: 7th September (annually)
- Proclamation of the Republic: 15th November (annually)

Argentina:

- Mardi Gras (Carnaval): 8th-9th February 2027 (dates vary annually)
- Malvinas Day: 2nd April (annually)
- May Revolution Day: 25th May (annually)
- Independence Day: 9th July (annually)

APPROPRIATE DRESS:

For this tour, you will experience a variety of climates, from the warm temperatures of Brazil and Argentina to the extreme conditions of Antarctica. Dressing in layers is key to staying comfortable throughout your journey.

Onboard the Cruise: The dress code is casual and relaxed, even for dinners. Comfortable, flat shoes with good grip are recommended, as decks may be slippery. If you plan to use the fitness facilities, sauna, or hot tub, bring gym clothes and swimwear. We advise bringing a Type C plug adapter (two-round pins, commonly used in Europe) for charging electronic devices onboard.

For Antarctica and Expedition Landings: Proper clothing is essential for polar conditions. Waterproof trousers are mandatory for shore excursions, and warm, layered clothing is highly recommended. This includes thermal base layers, fleece or wool jumpers, a warm hat, scarf or buff, insulated gloves, and thick wool socks. A complimentary wind- and water-resistant expedition jacket will be provided, but it is not a heavy winter coat. Boots suitable for landings will be provided, and wearing them is required for stepping ashore. The ship will also supply trekking poles and any necessary activity equipment.

For South America: Light, breathable clothing is best for warmer destinations like Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro. A hat, sunglasses, and sunscreen are recommended, along with comfortable walking shoes for city exploration. A light jacket or sweater may be useful for cooler evenings.

CULTURAL DIFFERENCE:

Brazilian and Argentine cultures are rich in tradition, hospitality, and social etiquette. While visitors are not expected to know every custom, being aware of local norms will enhance your experience. Your local guides will provide further insight into customs and etiquette to ensure a smooth and enjoyable journey.

In Brazil, people are warm and expressive, often greeting with a kiss on the cheek or a handshake. Dining is a social affair, and it is customary to wait for the host to invite you to begin eating. Brazilians have a relaxed attitude toward punctuality, so schedules may be more flexible than in Western cultures.

In Argentina, social interactions are also warm, with greetings often including a kiss on the cheek. Dining etiquette is important, particularly when enjoying Argentina's famous asados (barbecues). When dining out, tipping around 10% is customary. Argentines tend to eat late, with dinner often starting after 9 pm. It is also common to share mate (a traditional tea-like drink), which is passed around in a communal cup.

DEVELOPMENT IN BRAZIL AND ARGENTINA:

Brazil is a diverse country with a mix of modern infrastructure and developing areas. Major cities such as Rio de Janeiro and São Paulo offer world-class facilities, while more remote areas, particularly in the Amazon and Pantanal regions, may have limited infrastructure. While Brazil continues to advance, travellers should be aware that service levels, public transport, and safety standards may vary depending on the location.

Argentina is a developed nation with well-established tourism infrastructure, particularly in cities like Buenos Aires and Mendoza. While urban areas offer modern amenities and efficient transport, rural and mountainous regions may have more basic facilities. The country is generally safe for visitors, but as with any destination, travellers should take precautions, especially in busy city areas.

TIPPING / GRATUITIES

Tipping while on holiday is common in most parts of the world and Brazil & Argentina are no exception. However, it is not always clear who it is appropriate to tip and how much. Furthermore, travellers may not have the right amounts of cash available at the right time. In order to avoid any inconvenience, Wendy Wu Tours operates a tipping policy where a stated amount is given to your National Escort at the beginning of your tour and tips are disbursed to local guides and drivers throughout your tour. The amount is designed to be at a reasonable level for travellers while being fair to the local people and includes a gratuity for the National Escort.

If you are travelling in a smaller group with local guides only, then tipping is paid in each destination. To be fair to the guides we ask for slightly higher amounts per traveller with small groups. We generally find that most customers appreciate the convenience of our tipping policy, but we do recognize that it may not suit everyone. However, as this is a group tour, we ask that everyone follows the same protocol to be fair to other group members and to ensure smooth operation of your tour.

On the cruise: Standard onboard gratuities are included in your trip cost.

LUGGAGE:

All travellers are limited to two items of luggage each: a suitcase with a maximum weight of 20kg and one piece of hand luggage with a maximum weight of five kilograms. It is essential that your luggage is lockable.

For your cruise aboard the MS Roald Amundsen, it's essential to adhere to luggage allowances, especially considering airline restrictions associated with charter flights to embarkation points like Ushuaia. Typically, these flights permit one checked bag weighing up to 23 kg (50 lbs) and one carry-on bag up to 8 kg (17 lbs). Please note that these allowances are strict, and purchasing additional weight may not be possible.

PORTERAGE:

Pre & Post Cruise: Please note that porterage is not included in our tours before and after the cruise. You will need to handle your own luggage within the hotels and when using transportation such as coaches or domestic flights. Some hotels in Argentina and Brazil may have limited porterage services, and tipping for assistance is customary.

Cruise: Porterage is included onboard. Upon embarkation in Ushuaia, your luggage will be delivered to your cabin from the check-in area at the port. On the last night of your cruise, you will leave your luggage outside your cabin door for collection, and staff will arrange for it to be ready for disembarkation. It is customary to tip for porterage services.

TERRAIN CONSIDERATIONS (STEPS, SLOPES & UNEVEN SURFACES):

Many of the destinations visited on this tour require walking on uneven surfaces, navigating slopes, and climbing steps. In historic and natural sites, paths may be cobbled, unpaved, or involve inclines, making sturdy, comfortable footwear essential.

In cities, sightseeing often involves walking tours where pavements may be uneven, and some sites require climbing steps to access viewpoints or historic landmarks. In more remote areas, terrain can be rugged, and surfaces may become slippery when wet.

During the cruise, embarking and disembarking at ports or during shore excursions may involve steps, ramps, or small boats. Passengers should be comfortable with boarding and disembarking independently. While guides and crew will provide assistance where possible, travellers should consider their mobility when selecting this itinerary.

Sightseeing in Brazil and Argentina often involves walking on uneven terrain and climbing steps, particularly at historical sites and natural landmarks. In places like Iguazu Falls, Rio de Janeiro's Corcovado Mountain (Christ the Redeemer), and the cobbled streets of colonial towns, visitors should be prepared for inclines, stairs, and uneven pathways.

Some sites, such as Sugarloaf Mountain and Christ the Redeemer, offer cable car or train access, but additional walking may still be required. National parks, may involve hiking on uneven trails. People with knee or hip injuries, poor balance, or difficulty walking independently should carefully consider the suitability of this itinerary.

MONEY, CASH AND PERSONAL EXPENSE:

Exchanging cash: The unit of currency in Argentina it is the Argentinian Peso (ARS) and in Brazil it is the Brazilian Real (BRL). US Dollars can be easily exchanged provided notes are new and undamaged. We suggest exchanging your money before travelling to remote areas and smaller towns, as exchange facilities can be limited. Try and keep some small notes and coins on you, as on street stalls and in small shops they may not have the change to break up a high denomination note. If you decide to use US dollars, make sure they are in a good state (not ripped etc) or they will not be accepted. ATMs are common across Latin America and we recommend using an ATM inside a bank where possible. Please note, currently there are restrictions on how much cash you can withdraw from ATMs in Argentina. Most major credit cards are widely accepted across the continent; please bear in mind the charges of your provider. Debit cards are also widely accepted but may have a limit to the amount of cash you can withdraw, so consult your bank about this before travelling.

Personal expenses: You will need to take some extra money to cover drinks, laundry and souvenirs, plus any additional sightseeing that may be offered to you.

SAFETY & CRIME

Brazil is a vibrant and diverse country, but like any major travel destination, it is important to stay aware of your surroundings. Petty crime, such as pickpocketing and bag snatching, can occur in busy tourist areas, markets, and public transport hubs. To stay safe:

- Avoid wearing expensive jewellery or displaying valuables in public.
- Use hotel safes for passports and extra cash.
- Stick to well-lit and populated areas, especially at night.
- Be cautious when withdrawing money from ATMs, and use those inside banks or shopping centres when possible.
- In Rio de Janeiro and São Paulo, some neighbourhoods have higher crime rates—your guide will advise on safe areas to explore.

Argentina is generally considered one of the safer South American countries for tourists, but petty theft and scams can still occur, particularly in Buenos Aires and other major cities. Keep in mind:

- Pickpocketing is common in crowded areas, such as markets, public transport, and tourist hotspots.
- Be aware of the "mustard scam," where thieves squirt a liquid on travellers and offer to help clean it up while stealing valuables.
- Avoid carrying large amounts of cash; credit cards are widely accepted.
- Only use official taxis or rideshare services like Uber to prevent overcharging or taxi scams.
- Political demonstrations can occur in city centres—while usually peaceful, it is best to avoid large gatherings.

By staying alert and taking basic precautions, you can enjoy the stunning landscapes, culture, and hospitality of Brazil and Argentina with peace of mind.

SOUVENIRS:

We want to be able to give you an opportunity to buy souvenirs, so we include some stops at museums or exhibitions which demonstrate a craft or product unique to that region with pieces available to buy. We understand that souvenir hunting is not for everyone, so we aim to take you to places, which hold local interest. We trust you will enjoy these opportunities to learn about local arts and crafts and understand their historical and cultural importance.

OPTIONAL ACTIVITIES PRE AND POST CRUISE:

Our fully-inclusive Classic tours feature full days of sightseeing to ensure you experience all the must-see sights and unforgettable moments. Occasionally, when time allows, we offer optional extras such as evening shows for those seeking extra excitement. These excursions will be offered, and can be paid for locally through your guide.

BEFORE YOU LEAVE:

We strongly recommend registering your travel plans with www.smartraveller.gov.au as in the event of an emergency, Australian Consular assistance will be more readily available. You can also access the Australian Government's travel advisory service for up to date information about your destination on the same website.

AFTER YOUR BOOKING:

Once you have booked with Wendy Wu Tours, you will receive an email with your confirmation invoice, along with a link to our website where you can find your visa information (if applicable) and other important information. Your final documentation pack will be sent to you approximately 2 weeks prior to departure.
